The U.S. Army Wind Quintet

The U.S. Army Wind Quintet is a small chamber ensemble consisting of flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, and horn. The quintet has toured across America performing recitals and school clinics in such cities as Dallas, Texas, and Indianapolis, Indiana. The group most recently performed in New York City for the 50th Anniversary of NATO, which involved over 50 heads of state. Concerts at The White House Visitor's Center, the Millennium Stage at the Kennedy Center, and other venues in and around the Washington, D.C metropolitan area have established the ensemble as a force in standard and light classical wind quintet literature.
